

I don't understand how Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election will not be prevented by the FCC.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

Airing a clearly subjective political documentary on the public airwaves days before the election is egregious.

We need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
